All of our books are available in English and Spanish.

Written By Kids Publishing Company (WBKPC)'s mission is to produce, promote and distribute quality reading material for children. Our method is simple! We work with youth to help them realize and verbalize the story they have within. (Ask about the "Finding The Story In You Program" presented by the Written By Kids Foundation.) Using this approach we come across some powerful fundamental messages that support our objective to Restore Justice Through Literacy.

These stories are ideal products to be included in the WBKPC catalog. This catalog is marketed directly to individuals and organizations through our Independent Book Distributors (IBD) and the publishing company. Additionally, we offer advertising space in the catalog to business throughout the communities we serve to fund our Standing Together To Resist Bullying program (STTRB). This program helps participants offset the expenses associated with publishing their material.

Does a child in your life enjoy reading, writing or drawing? Would you or would they like to have their work published? Start Here!

We team young authors and illustrators up with a mentor close to their age to encourage, motivate and assist them through the publishing process.

Nkiyasi Helm

How it all started:

WBKPC began with a kid and a dream. At that time 10 year old Miss Nkiyasi Helm decided to fulfill her dream of becoming an author. Initially her writing and illustrating began as a hobby and soon led to writing with a purpose. If you ask Nkiyasi why she likes to write so much "it's like TV in your head she responds. I write to help other people gain a different perspective, a kid's perspective on issues that the youth of today are faced with." Now as a teenager, Miss Nkiyasi would like to provide the same opportunities she has had to others by hosting themed events for the youth in our communities. She is an ambassador for anti-bullying, living a healthy life style and promoting literacy.

We welcome you to partner with Written By Kids Publishing Company and Miss Nkiyasi Helm to support the STTRB program and our next generations!
